Dukane Announces Partnership with RF Technologies

Dukane today announced a distributor partnership with RF Technologies out of Brookfield, Wisconsin. This agreement allows Dukane to sell the Help Alert Solution to their vast network of U.S. based dealers.

Help Alert uses a real-time locating system (RTLS) to locate teachers, staff and students in need of assistance. By pressing a button on a small pendant, or mobile panic alarm, Help Alert immediately and silently reports the pendant's location to security responders.

- Alarm can alert school/district security or local police
- Easy-to-use system contributes to an overall school safety plan
- Mobile pendant can be activated anywhere, including areas video systems cannot capture
- Discreet pendant fits in pocket, or can be worn on a lanyard or clipped to a belt
- Proactive solution reduces the risk of physical threat or student bullying
- Present an attractive, safe environment to students, parents and faculty
- Leverage other security investments-if a pendant is activated, responders can use mass notification options and video to assess the alert
- View alerts in real time: watch a pendant's location update on a floor plan
- Immediately acknowledge alarms while responding to the incident
- Clear alert on the spot after resolving the situation
- Convenient and cost-effective: no power or data cabling is required
- Uses small, battery-powered reference tags that are attached out of the way on walls or ceilings
- Fully supervised system
- Scalable: easily expand the system if needed
- Plan and predict where or when an alarm is more likely to occur
- Track the response times of your security teams for continuous improvement
- Easily prepare reports to adhere to federal, state and local mandates
- Uses existing Wi-Fi structure
